Narrator: 'Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the bakery,
Not a cookie was stirring, except one who was quite flaky.
The Ginger Man, fresh from the oven, with a gleam in his eye,
Decided this Christmas, he'd give running away a try!

(Ginger Man jumps out from behind a prop oven)

Ginger Man: Run, run as fast as you can!
You can't catch me, I'm the Ginger Man!
This Christmas Eve, I'll explore the town,
No cookie cutter life for me, I won't be pinned down!

(Santa Claus enters, looking jolly)

Santa: Ho ho ho! What's this I see?
A runaway cookie? Come back to me!
I need you for my midnight snack,
To fuel my journey with my gift-filled sack!

Ginger Man: Sorry Santa, I'm not your treat!
I'm off to see the world, isn't that sweet?
Run, run as fast as you can!
You can't catch me, I'm the Ginger Man!

(Ginger Man runs off stage, Santa chases him briefly, then exits. Rudolph enters, nose glowing)

Rudolph: Hey there, cookie! Why the rush?
Your cinnamon scent is making me blush!
How about a ride in Santa's sleigh?
We'll soar through the sky, what do you say?

Ginger Man: Thanks, Rudolph, but I'll pass on flying,
I prefer running, there's no denying!
Run, run as fast as you can!
You can't catch me, I'm the Ginger Man!

(Ginger Man runs off stage, Rudolph follows briefly, then exits.)

Frosty the Snowman slides in)

Frosty: Well, hello there, you spicy fellow!
Your gingery scent is making me mellow.
Let's build a snowman, just you and me,
We'll be the coolest duo by the Christmas tree!

Ginger Man: Oh Frosty, my friend, I'd love to play,
But I've got places to be, I can't delay!
Run, run as fast as you can!
You can't catch me, I'm the Ginger Man!

(Ginger Man runs off stage, Frosty wobbles after him briefly, then exits. An Elf enters, looking mischievous)

Elf: Aha! A Ginger Man on the loose!
You'd make a perfect tree ornament, no excuse!
I'll catch you with my elf-made net,
The best Christmas decoration yet!

Ginger Man: (Looking tired)

Oh dear, oh dear, I'm losing steam,
This running away isn't all it might seem.
Perhaps it's time to end this spree,
And find my place on the Christmas tree.

(Ginger Man slows down, Elf gently catches him)

Elf: Don't worry, Ginger Man, you're not alone,
The Christmas spirit will guide you home.
You've had your adventure, now let's celebrate,
With all our friends, it will be great!

(All characters re-enter)

Narrator: And so, our Ginger Man's journey came to an end,
Surrounded by new Christmas friends.
He learned that the best gift of all,
Is being together, standing proud and tall.

All: (Singing)

Merry Christmas to all, both cookies and toys,
To Santa and reindeer, to girls and boys!
May your holidays be filled with cheer,
And sweet adventures throughout the year!

(All characters bow)
